Working Group «Social Infrastructure»

At the first session, the analysis of current state in the field was presented by the local expert Anna Nyagova. Among others she presented detailed figures, statistics of the existing problem and some proposals for their solution.

The Working Group was very active, due to which we received a large number of comments and professional opinions of the participants.

Based on this, the local expert prepared a draft version of the program to support and develop the institute of young family. We hope for a productive discussion and high-quality suggestions for this program. Also we will be more than happy to hear the opinion of the authoritative international expert, Daniel Gerbery, who participated in preparation and evaluation of several strategic documents concerning family and social policy.

Agenda of the session

- analysis of draft-project aimed at the development of family, as a social institution
- experience sharing of the international expert
- discussion about draft-project
- discussion about experience presented by international expert
- Q&A session
- Summing up the working group session
- Preparation of work plan for the next session
